

Frank Tyler

Frank deserves ROCS Recognition because he consistently puts himself in a position to be supportive of his peers. He comes early and stays late at rehearsals to help with setup and equipment, and is kind to all he interacts with. Multiple parents on multiple occasions have approached me to comment on how helpful Frank has been at various events.

NOMINATOR: Brian Bersh

Majeda Aesha

Majeda deserves ROCS Recognition because she puts in a special effort—and even took on extra work!—during the end of the first marking period to help her classmates achieve their learning goals.

NOMINATOR: Dan Barkin

Arshdeep Singh

Arshdeep deserves ROCS Recognition because he brings a consistent positive attitude to his fifth period class. His congeniality is contagious, and he contributes positively to the classroom environment.

NOMINATOR: Ms. Gibbs Jones

Madeleine Cooper

Madeleine deserves ROCS Recognition because she is an extremely thoughtful and caring student. She is always willing to help those around her and does a great job of welcoming new students. She is considerate to all and represents ROCS to the highest degree.

NOMINATOR: Evan Glasier

Rene Arturo Barrera-Guerra

Rene deserves ROCS Recognition because no one adds more to the school climate than Rene. Many of his teachers tell me that when he is not in class, his presence is truly missed and it just doesn't seem the same. His friends, many as they are, often seek him out for advice.

NOMINATOR: John Doll

Henry Hoagland

Henry deserves ROCS Recognition because he helped the class by setting up (with other students) several computer monitors/ TVs. He has worked very well with other students in accomplishing this goal.

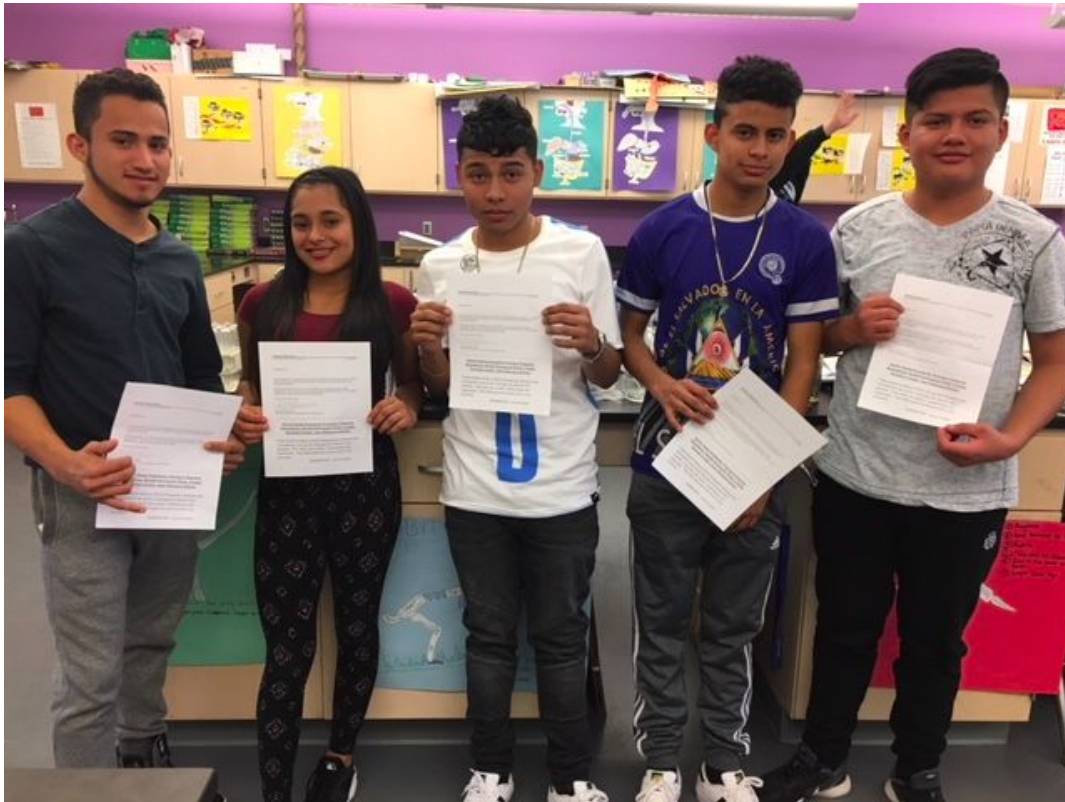

NOMINATOR: Mr. Edmisten

Henry Lehman

Henry deserves ROCS Recognition because he is personable, respectful, and pleasant to teachers and students, and independently helps out in the classroom. He is happy to work with any students in his class, and is thoughtful and persistent in his work, even when it is difficult or frustrating.

NOMINATOR: Ms. Marks

Gerson Ajanel Amezquita, Francisco Chavarria
Baquadenao, Norelbi Dominguez Flores,
Cristian Gonzalez Corado,
Jose Villanueva Aleman

These students deserve ROCS Recognition because they volunteered to set up the Thanksgiving meal for HILT students. They were very careful, hardworking, and responsible. Their effort gave the whole event a nice ambiance.

NOMINATOR: Laura Cooper

Temuujin Ikhbayar

TJ deserves ROCS Recognition because he goes above and beyond in the pursuit of academic excellence. He is enthusiastic about participating in class and always seems to be a step ahead. He is generous about giving his time to help others as well. TJ is polite and always very upbeat and friendly. It is a pleasure to be around him every day.

NOMINATOR: Justine Springberg

Zach Kavalijan

Zach deserves ROCS Recognition because he is a very positive influence in 1st Period. He is always diligent and enthusiastic about the tasks at hand. More importantly, though, he is kind and respectful to everyone, and Zach is willing to help anyone who asks. Finally, he is very witty, and his humor helps to keep us alert in the early morning. Thanks for being such an essential part of our class, Zach!

NOMINATOR: Rachel Sadauskas
